SOME FEW WORDS REGARDING OUR FIRST MANAGING EDITOR

There was no stereotyping plant when Julius Caesar was extant. No Mergenthaler sang its song. Octuples had not come along. There was no ink in reds and blues when Julius Caesar ran the news.

When Julius Caesar needed news there was no telephone to use. He had to climb aboard a horse and get exclusive scoops by force. There was not then, as we may guess, a good Associated Press.

Because his method thus was crude they buried those he interviewed, which seems to indicate a lack of finer reportorial knack. Still one good point is clearly spied. His interviews were not denied.

When Julius Caesar edited, exchanges were not credited. When he met items face to face he bragged them quick to swell his space. Thus normally he came to be the first great editorial We.

In many another matter, too, he did just what we fellows do. He always did the modern stunt. He always put the news up front. He gave his staff assignments tough and kept the galleys full of stuff.

Though he could not rush news to press in fifteen minutes more or less, yet he had every other art that editors must have by heart. Just scan his stuff. We've got a bunch you'll say that Julius had the punch.

When Julius Caesar's time was ripe, there was no lino to stick type. So Brutus with some other chaps stuck him Old Roman Style in Caps.—From the Mergenthaler Line, O' Type News.

HIGH COST OF NEWSPAPERING

Things are happening right along in Iowa newspaper circles these days as a result of the increasing cost of print paper and other materials that go into the making of newspapers.

In the Denison Bulletin, of which he is publisher, G. L. Caswell, field secretary for the Iowa Press Association, says that with newspapers nowadays it is a case of grabbing a limb or drowning, and the first limb the Bulletin will grab is a raise in its subscription price from $1.50 to $2 to all subscribers outside Crawford county. Mr. Caswell explains that white newspaper that heretofore has cost $2.70 per hundred pounds hereafter will be mighty welcome at the office at $5 per hundred pounds, and that to sell his paper for $1.50 outside the county, where subscribers are of less value to advertisers than subscribers at home, would mean a dead loss on each subscriber.

The Des Moines Capital has announced an immediate increase in its subscription price from $2 to $3 and is returning money offered for subscriptions at the old rate. In addition it is shutting down its exchange list, refusing to send free copies to advertisers and otherwise husbanding its store of white paper.

An announcement in the Cedar Falls Record states that on August 1 its advertising rate will be advanced 2½ cents an inch, Lars Bladine, the publisher, explaining frankly that "one of two things is necessary, either a boost in the rate or a complete shutdown." And the Record is only one of many papers that either already have raised their rates or are preparing to do so. The Eagle Grove Eagle declares "a slight increase in the cost of advertising and job printing will have to be made, or else we will have to quit business."

Perilous times indeed are these for newspaper publishers. Print paper is only one of the sources of trouble. Metal used in the linotypes has advanced 100 per cent. Paper used in stereotyping has gone up from 50 to 150 per cent. Ink rollers have made a jump of 50 per cent. And this only begins to tell the tale.—Sioux City Journal.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM THE WORLD AT LARGE

VIENNA, July 26.—The rich Austrian Derby prize of 122,000 krenen (nearly $25,000) which was captured on June 11 by Sanskrit, Baron Alfons Rothchild's horse, is to be spent for charitable purposes, according to an announcement of the Baroness Rothchild.

In the absence of her husband in the field, the baroness represented him at Freudenau on Derby day, and soon after their horse had won she made it known that the richest prize of the entire racing year in Austria should be divided equally between the Red Cross, the "Conrad von Hoetzendorf Fund," the "Fund for the Blind Established by the Ministry of the Interior," and the "Day Home for War Orphans and Children."

PARIS, July 26.—The distribution of prizes to school children, an old established institution in France, has been continued during the war and will this year be extended to the Alsatian schools of the reconquered regions of Thann and Bannemaire. The prizes for the Alsatian children will be provided by the city of Paris.

PARIS, July 26.—An airship at 4,000 yards height is able to make observations over a surface of ground 300 miles in diameter, according to information collected in the discussion of the services that aircraft has rendered during the war. An aviator at 1,000 yards height has within his vision a zone 75 miles in diameter. Accordingly, the Abbe Moreaux of the Bourges observatory has figured out that an aviator of the entrenched camp of Paris at 1,000 yards height is able to see as far as Chartres, Orleans, Beauvais, Amiens, and the German front beyond Compiègne, with the city of Laon.

This visibility, calculated mathematically, is rarely possible, however, in practice, because atmospheric conditions are seldom just right for it.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, July 26.—Notwithstanding that she was already largely monopolizing the export of Holland's surplus agricultural and other food products, Germany has just taken measures with a view to removing Belgian buying competition from the Dutch market. A decree has been issued in Belgium prohibiting communes and dealers from importing goods from Holland. Applications to make such purchases must be submitted to Berlin. The result is that Belgium, where distress was already acute, is deprived of an indispensable supply of goods, and the great difficulties which the American Relief Commission is experiencing with cargo space does not allow of the adequate and speedy replacement from that quarter.

LONDON, July 27.—Telephone girls' bravery during Zeppelin raids and the Irish rebellion which they helped to quell featured the annual report of the postoffice department in conjunction with which the telephone system in this country is operated by the government.

"When the Zeppelin raids have been anticipated, sometimes when they have been going on," says the report, "the women have come out of their homes to their work—even when bombs were dropping. They have played an important part in the scheme of air raid warnings and have set a very good example to the whole country."

"In Dublin, when the bullets were flying and the fires were raging, the women stuck to their work in the exchange, and it was due to them that communication was kept up and that we were able to obtain the military forces which suppressed the rebellion."

More than 25,000 women have replaced men in positions in the post-office department and telephone systems, the report further shows. Out of 90,000 men of military age in these departments, 56,000 have joined the colors and 21,700 others have attested and only await the call to arms.

LONDON, July 26.—Changed in many ways is London since the war began, but nowhere is the transformation more marked than in the cosmopolitan district called Soho, in the West End, within a stone's throw of Piccadilly Circus. Soho is not the bustling, merry place of pre-war days. The great conflict has made it quiet, almost lifeless, for Frenchmen, Belgians, Italians, Germans and Austrians who had their home in Soho have gone.

The change is even more pronounced in Charlotte street. The German chemists, German laundries, German restaurants, German clubs and German paper shops have gone. There was even a Christliches Kellherheim (a home for Christian waiters). It is closed now; there are no German waiters. German books have been moved from the booksellers' windows; German signs have disappeared and certain shopkeepers are at pains to announce that they are French or Belgian firms.

The Belgians have lost their country for the moment, but they have taken their revenge in Charlotte street. There is no gainsaying their victory there. Instead of the cafes and restaurants with German signs there are establishments named after Belgian towns. And in them may be seen Belgian soldiers on leave drinking coffee.

LONDON, July 26.—Australia is working out a policy which by 1922 will give her a fleet of fifty vessels, eight of them pre-dreadnoughts, and involving an annual expenditure of at least $25,000,000, a member of an Australian commission, P. M. Glynn, stated on a recent visit to England.

The Best Diarrhoea Medicine

"A customer came into my store the other day and said to one of my clerks 'have you anything that will cure diarrhoea' and my clerk went and got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and said to him, 'This does not cure you, I will not charge you a cent for it.' So he took it home and came back in a day or two and said it was the best medicine he ever used," writes J. H. Berry & Co., Salt Creek, Va. Obtainable everywhere.
